

BONUS MATERIAL

Who are the Perps and Why?

I've come to the natural conclusion that my electronic harassment points to Federal powers i.e. The DoJ, FBI, Law Enforcement, and "threat mitigation" Private Intelligence Contractors (PIAs). The lack of respect for basic human right and the justification for torture also points to war machine or "the Pentagon." The source of the abuse is "counterterrorism" spending. For Private Intelligence Contractors (PIAs) its motivated by monetary gain like winning contracts and being able to "mitigate" against threats, also testing and proving R&D in the field. This explains why the governments expanded its list of terrorist, watch-listed people, and why there is more emphasis on domestic terrorism even though the threat of a large scale terrorist attack is extremely low and 9-11-01 "the access of evil" is a distinct memory.

Contractors that have a history of targeting:

Leidos = was involved in looking for terrorist for drone strikes.

Palantir Technologies = in news articles claimed to track potential terrorist and subversives.

The electronic harassment could also be what the FBI considers a disruption. Disruptions from justice.gov: "A disruption is defined as interrupting or inhibiting a threat actor from engaging in criminal or national security related activity. A disruption is the result of direct actions and may include but is not limited to the arrest; seizure of assets; or impairing the operational capabilities of key threat actors."

I believe Defense Contractors like Raytheon who developed the millimeter wave "heat ray," or "pain ray" along with the national Institute of Justice, the research arm of the DoJ, and have further developed the weaponry, most likely it has progressed to become solid state for both mobile use like I described being stalked & harassed at close quarters in apartments, hotels, Airbnb's or at a workspace, to more remote targeting like placed around cities and aimed at a person on the go who is mobile to guard against critical infrastructure. Surveillance tracking technology is used like Geographic Information Systems (GIS) location-based service (LBS) to track the targets device and "tagging" or tagging, tracking, locating (TTL) where a person may have an implant.

The harassment encompasses three components: 1) cyber like monitoring internet activity and interfering with or overheating computer devices. 2) physical disruption like directed energy "pain compliance," skin contact harassment (itching powder, poison ivy rashes) 3) terror watch list discrimination like preventing higher employment or interfering with business 4) Physical intimidation or “degrading” behavior like targeted family, social isolation, medical malpractice.

Black Bags and Skin Contact Harassment

What a targeted family member and I experience is not only directed energy but other forms of harassment. There is also black bags where itching powder is put in my clothes making my skin itch or giving me a poison ivy rash. Skin-contact type harassment designed to irritate the target or affect the target psychologically. I suspect my targeting could be what is described as an ‘FBI disruption’ and intelligence contractors and or law enforcement are involved. A disruption is when a person’s activity is disrupted without charging them with a crime out of fear or embarrassment on the FBI’s overzealous part of losing a case because the person is just exercising their rights and there is not enough evidence of a serious crime.

LEGAL ARGUMENTS FOR TI’s

Legal Precedents; Ethical Arguments:

Neo-Liberal Private Intel Contractors Promote Overbearing Behavior

Neo-liberal private intelligence contractors pose a threat to democracy because they are motivated by profit. This creates overzealous behavior like the need for more “watch-listed” citizens, draconian surveillance like something out of Minority Report, I.e. Palantir, domestic terrorist rhetoric, and promotes government alarmism by politicians. There should be laws to limit private industry’s role in what should be military or government agency work who follow laws of war, US Constitution, and are held accountable by the public.

Liability Protection For Private Contractors is Unlawful and should be Waved

Homeland Security contractors and private intel contractors who’s clients are the government and law enforcement should lose liability protection. Harassing, sabotage, invasion of privacy, unconstitutional behavior should be considered “piercing the corporate veil.” Contractors that rely on mostly Federal spending or government contracts should be considered partial or quasi-government entities who have to adhere to the same regulations, laws, and public oversight as government institutions. This prevents lynching behavior, vigilante justice, and witch hunt behavior.

War Crimes For Military Vets in Private Industry

Vets who form LLC’s and work in the private intelligence or private military field using military special operation tactics, operational tradecraft tactics targeting citizens or civilians for financial gain in a type of “vigilante justice” should be charged with war crimes and face severe penalties like losing their military or police pension and benefits and active security clearances. Also be considered felons. People from the military or intelligence community should not have a sense of entitlement and military might over the civilian population.

Laws Against Politicizing Terrorist Attacks and Military Worshipping

The United States is not a military dictatorship ran by the Pentagon. Politicians who politicize 9-11-01 like Senator Chuck Schumer should be penalized by the Federal government and receive less funding for their state. A terrorist site should not be treated like a shrine or used for propaganda. 9-11-01 slogans like “Never Forget” are too much like a battle cry and should be taken down. After a tragic event there should be a grace period for mourning or political rhetoric until there is permanent closure. Those who decided to serve their country in the military, people in uniform, should not be put on a pedestal especially when they are back in the civilian population. Too much military is actually bad and not good. It promotes militias, coups, paramilitary, mercenaries like in lesser developed countries. A perpetual war machine is also not good it’s better to deescalate conflict with better diplomacy. A person can make the legal argument that those targeting citizens, targeting individuals are tyrant’s not patriots.

Are “Social Media Score” Job Screeners and Government Watch-Listing Good For Democracy or really Communist, Fascist?

In the past rebels, radicals, outspoken people, whistle blowers played a role in exposing corruption as well as creating innovation but now the same people could be called “Insider Threats,” malicious actors, lone offenders excluded from employment or society. Those in power are able to keep the status quo and a low approval rating dictating the narrative as a country declines. Those in homeland security, the military now in the private sector offering doing similar types of work in mitigating against perceived threats motivated by profit may have created the tools of oppression. When’s the last time you’ve heard about anti-war protesters? Job screeners like ClearForce who have mass surveillance tools and spook connection are able to weed out those or exclude those who may be watch-listed, on the governments radar, or exercising their civil liberties with controversial affiliations or views. Wouldn’t this ‘know all’ approach about someone go against privacy like a form of “social media score” communism or fascism, promoting an ideal society-social eugenics, and people discrimination for “non-compliant” citizens?

Is “silent weapon” directed energy torture a precursor for genocide and high-tech “ray gun” oppression?

In the future the military want to use directed energy to kill or vaporize a target. Imagine stealthy craft or drones vaporizing entire groups or ethnic groups of people where it can be plausibly denied and there is no more of them like segments of the population had vanished. The potential genocidal danger of DEWs or how less-than-lethal DEWs are too easy to abuse by the authorities like a tool of oppression would be a good argument against those in the military or law enforcement who are in favor of directed energy.

Is the War on Terror or Watch-Listing Constitutional?

There have been criticism and arguments against terrorist watch-list. During the Web 1.0 or 2.0 days I was known as a internet troll on music mailing list and forums and got into UFOs from listening to overnight talk show host Art Bell, hearing Steven Greer’s Disclosure Project but is that worthy of being called a terrorist that allows the Government to black ball or harass citizens? In 2019 it was in the news that a Federal judge ruled the FBI’s terror watch list unconstitutional. If you were to ask the average tax paying American who has created more harm to this country, the “swamp” in Washington D.C. or so called terrorist. Most American’s would likely point to the government who is now using “domestic terrorist” rhetoric on what started out as an elaborate terrorist attack by a foreign ideology. Politicians want to keep the money ball rolling with the controversial FISA section 702 because it means money going toward Federal programs and their states but do we need all this Homeland Security and putting citizens on terrorist watch-list? Is that the type of free and democratic society the founding fathers intended? One could argue that measures enacted after 9-11-01 were over-protectionist policies and now there needs to be a push back against terrorist rhetoric and the surveillance state. The government’s role should be more limited in people’s ives. Not the overbearing claiming to protect your freedom giving the government more power to stray from the US Constitution and silence or discriminate against citizens.

The Role of Private Contractors and Mercenaries

I described in my last book Private Intelligence Agencies (PIAs) who operate under the radar. Many of these PIAs are in close proximity to Washington D.C. because the name of the game is winning Federal contracts. PIAs are usually LLCs created by vets and former intel. Who offer their Washington connections, spook experience, and expertise for mitigation against threats. Many of these counterintelligence vets, former Homeland Security, CIA spooks still have active security clearances. Some in the targeted individual community will use the term “contracted stalking.” Many of these PIAs have dark imagery like Tactical Rabbit. All PIAs are not in America, you may have heard of Black Cube, or NSO Group. Interestingly, there are targeted individuals in other countries like Poland, and Japan who've protested in small groups like in the US. One contractor named CACI was involved in the Abu Grahیب torture abuse scandal that resulted in a lawsuit. There is a contractor out of North Carolina involved in torture flights or CIA Extraordinary Rendition named Aero Contractors Limited, that some anti-torture groups in North Carolina have protested. One of the more well known PIA's in the US is Peter Thiel's data analytic's firm Palantir Technologies. There was controversy around Palantir helping ICE agents track immigrants using Amazon cloud during the Trump Administration and interestingly enough it was accused of helping law enforcement like the LAPD see a person's profile by running their license plate and through Fusion centers. Raytheon, makers of Active Denial or the millimeter wave "pain ray" purchased a PIA named Blackbird Technologies renaming it Raytheon Blackbird that specialized in hacking without a trace and tagging, tracking, and locating (TTL) that helps the military or special operations to follow targets on the battlefield. I discovered there are PIA's that even create sock puppets for social media. The appeal of using a contractor is the government or a Federal alphabet agency can plausibly deny or distance itself from any involvement in activity that may be a violation of a person's rights like electronic harassment. Private Military Companies (PMC's) are similar in nature but focus on filling military roles like Erik Prince's Blackwater or Russia's Wagner Group.

GATHERING EVIDENCE/ SHIELDING/ DETECTION METHODS

The Lack of High Frequency Consumer Measurement Meters

EMF Meters sold to the consumer do not measure extreme high frequency or the same frequency as Raytheon's millimeter wave Active Denial "pain ray." The frequencies are usually around a microwave oven or cellular communication. High end RF measuring equipment with probes for high frequency and also spectrum analyzers are expensive either used by the military or for industrial applications and require a certain amount of technical expertise.

Low-Tech Method of Detecting Directed Energy

When sleeping in the car I used mylar or space blanket to cover myself and would notice a rice crispies "crackling sound" when being hit by directed energy or the pain ray. I captured this on my laptop camera and the thin sheet of mylar can be seen jerking with a crackle sound like being hit with a directed energy pulse. It wasn't caused by wind or me breathing and I was laying perfectly still. Once sitting up in the front seat of my car I covered myself with mylar while resting and could hear the mylar making a noise at intervals where my neck was being targeted like being hit in waves. Once I purchases balloons from the dollar store and put them in the back seat of my car, I stopped to park and turned the engine off, I could feel the pain ray or directed energy and hear a click from the balloons very eight seconds like the balloons were picking up pulses. I recorded this on my laptop camera.

RF, Microwave Shielding:

From my research there is both active shielding and passive shielding. A dense bag of laundry acts as absorption or certain material specifically designed for RF absorption like Eccosorb RF absorbers I purchased off of Ebay can be effective but are expensive, while certain materials like copper and silver coated material used in a Faraday Cage reflect microwaves or radio frequency. Many people use RF shielding, also called EMF shielding out of electronic noise pollution concerns like exposure to RF towers and smart meters. I found that shielding can make the harassment more tolerable like when trying to fall asleep although the perps detect what you are using and will make adjustments but it still offers a little bit of a barrier.

OVERBEARING GOVERNMENT, WEAPONIZED GOVERNMENT, GOVERNMENT OVERREACH ARGUMENT

The Elusive Terrorist Threat Doesn't Add Up

One could make the argument that the threat of being killed by a terrorist is so low, so low in fact that more people will hit the jackpot lottery, the draconian legislation enacted after 9-11-01 like the Patriot Act and the FISA represents overreaching powers. It was a reaction to a major terrorist attack but lots of time has passed and other things pose more of a threat to citizens like the opioid drug crises, the environment, and pandemics. Also watch-listing and harassment campaigns may violate anti-lynching laws even if Federal powers like the FBI use contractors to plausibly deny any involvement. These contractors should not be allowed to do anything because of liability protection or non-disclosure agreements with law enforcement. Anti-lynching laws and laws against "vigilante justice" should be applied to private contractors selling their services as "threat mitigating." Another argument against America's counterterrorism spending is the numbers justifying mitigating against perceived terrorist threats don't add up. There's only old records stating how many people are watch listed in the US and abroad. From doing a search I see a 40,000+ figure from old statistics and 400,000+ abroad. One has to assume the actual figures are much higher now but watch listing has done little to stop the rise in shootings or active shooters that are always in the news. The rise in shootings that has killed more Americans than any terrorist has more to do with societal issues like poor parenting, a disgruntled employee, how we value guns like assault rifles, the endless war-machine, sensationalizing violence, and mental health issues than any terrorist ideology. If shootings are on the rise and the surveillance state can't do anything to stop it and many illegals cross the border undetected then shouldn't there be more terrorist attacks or bombs going off everywhere, or sabotage? Therefore it's unlikely the high number of people watch-listed are actually terrorists. The problem with terrorism is people may talk a good game but most will not act on it or die over an ideology, it's called self-preservation. This is probably why the FBI will not elaborate on the nature of its disruptions or is accused of creating the very plots they bust using informants.

Politics and the "Weaponized DoJ"

Before the last Presidential election regardless of how you feel about Donald Trump there was civil unrest, this also coincided with fallout from the coronavirus changing people's normal routines. There were far right types grandstanding showing their guns and far left types toppling Confederate statues and focusing on race after some police shooting went viral. Both sides wanted to classify each other as terrorists. After the Capital Six riots and Joe Biden won a controversial election many far right groups and conservatives became critical of the DoJ and FBI since far right groups or white supremacists were being called terrorists with a controversial FBI sting operation using informants to foil an alleged assassination plot of Michigan's progressive liberal governor. Some claimed much of polarization pointed to big tech and populist protest movements like BLM pointed to Billionaires like George Soros, unlike before where political change protest like the Tea Party and Occupy where more grass roots efforts.

Homeland Security's "Emerging Threats" and a Lack of Oversight

I recently read an article that unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) are part of what the government now considers "emerging threats" as well as loners, lone wolves, lone actors. It seems the government's list of threats is ever evolving and always expanding but who's watching emerging technology these Federal goons use? My directed energy "pain ray" attacks are real. The National Institute of Justice, the research arm of the DoJ that is under a lot of scrutiny today i.e. "weaponized DoJ" wanted to put smaller, solid state "pain ray" weapons in the hands of law enforcement. Police even if well intentioned have a history of excessive force or abusing less-than lethal weapons such as tasers, also called a conducted-energy device because the taser has to touch the skin for conduction or for a person to get an zap of electricity. There are even lawyers that specialize in police taser cases. Directed energy weapons like Active Denial, The Silent Guardian, and the Assault Intervention Device is also called the "silent weapon" because the directed energy is not visible to the naked eye but can inflict pain without leaving any trace. If abused it can be used to torment or torture a target. The Assault Intervention Device involving the LA Sheriff Department and the National Institute of Justice and defense contractor Raytheon raised objections by the ACLU out of torture and abuse concerns.

Directed Energy Misconceptions

Journalist contributing to major publications dismissing targeted individuals have stated a misconception on the laws prohibiting the use of directed energy weapons or DEWs against people. Directed energy weapons developed and used by the military like the High Energy Laser or High Powered Microwave are prohibited against human targets. Less-than Lethal directed energy like Raytheon's high frequency ray gun or sonic weapons like LRAD can be used against humans, it's just deemed controversial. Such weaponry in the non lethal or less-than lethal category has not been banned. The perception given by those in the media that directed energy would not be used against human targets or a pain inducing ray gun is science fiction is false. These contributing writers, so called journalist or experts have not done their homework, they practice poor journalism, or are intentionally being misleading in an effort to dismiss or debunk claims that journalist themselves and the public may find disturbing. The obvious solution is to put a ban on such weapons and using directed energy to inflict pain on a human target should be treated as physically striking someone like blunt force trauma, battery, assault.

America's Human Rights Record

There are many including US citizens and patriotic people that think our country is above committing war crimes and America human rights record is better than the rest of the world. This couldn't be further from the truth. The United States has a history of war crimes and a long history human rights abuses. It has fully embraced using torture and extrajudicial killings. Abu Grahیب that involved intelligence contractor CACI was considered a war crime according to Amnesty International. Other countries like the UK and Canada have awarded torture settlements to Gitmo inmates. Countries that America is critical of like China, North Korea, Iran, Russia are guilty of human rights abuses but America that puts great emphasis on military spending and war campaigns is no exception. America skirts around human rights of its citizens and that of the US constitution using the war against terrorism ploy and considers my brand of no-touch torture using directed energy as "innovation."

High-Tech Misery and America's Moral Decline

The ugly bully behavior of Donald Trump who is something out of a silly tabloid and the shady election tactics, sexual deviant, polarizing racial rhetoric of left-wing radicals shows America's moral decline where 'degenerate' behavior is the new norm with many in society acting selfish having compromised their own values. The average city dweller has more compassion over pet animals than their neighbor or fellow human beings.

America also puts more emphasis on worshipping technology or a technocracy idolizing billionaires allowing their ego-maniac monopoly on society than a higher standard of living for the working class without having more money than they can spend in one lifetime. It's a society that glorifies violence on TV, movies, and video games yet fails to understand why there is a rise in shootings and the dehumanizing effect of technology where more people feel isolated from the real world and miserable. Political leaders increasingly rely on prima-donna behavior, witch hunts, shock doctrine alarmism instead of effective governing neglecting their own constituencies and a healthy free market system where there's a lack of small businesses just vacant storefronts. The directed energy pain torment abuse a senior citizen family member and I have incurred where no one in authority will speak up and put a stop to it is an example cowardly corruption and our country's degenerate decline.

I WAS TARGETED OVER UFO RESEARCH AND TARGETED INDIVIDUAL ACTIVISM

Before there was any news of the Havana Syndrome, now being called "anomalous health incidents," or AHIs, there were people known as "targeted individuals" or TI's that claimed they were receiving electronic harassment. My electronic harassment began after becoming interested in UFOs from listening to late night talk radio host Art Bell and hearing about Steven Greer's Disclosure Project during the early 2000s. It coincided with posting to UFO Forums during the Web 1.0 days and creating a Geocities page looking for UFO patterns like UFO shapes, effects, flight characteristics, alleged crashes, physical trace or landing marks I was also known as an internet troll posting to music mailing list and forums but I noticed my electronic harassment coincided with internet activity dealing with UFOs. Then during the Web 2.0 days after hearing Roger Telcos on Art Bell, now CoastToCoast AM, who was a private investigator who looked into electronic harassment, I discovered there were others like me called "targeted individuals" and I instead started focusing my research on targeted individuals that had their own blogs and were marginalized as conspiratorial or mentally ill. I also started looking into directed energy weapons or DEWs, then in 2013 there was the Navy Yard Shooter who was a loner who claimed electronic harassment drove him to become an active shooter. Shortly before that I became targeted with the "pain ray." A family member, my Mom living in California also became targeted. In 2014 to 2017 I attended small protest meeting other TI's some who appeared crazy or having a psychotic break, conspiratorial following "mind control" authors like Dr. Robert Duncan. TI's talked about gang stalking, V2K, synthetic telepathy, and directed energy attacks. I noticed some TI's had similar symptoms to mine like directed energy attacks causing sleep deprivation, also described by Aaron Alexis, the Navy Yard Shooter. I was curious why other TI's were targeted, some claimed to be whistle blowers, or conspiracy theorist like Truthers, a couple at TI gathering said it was drugs, I also observed so called TI organizations or support groups appeared sketchy, taking names claiming a class action yet nothing materialized, there were people who went by fake names or confidence tricksters having fake credentials like being called a doctor, former alphabet agency, NASA etc. Then I discovered the dark world of intelligence contracting from reading a targeted individual blog about “surveillance role players” and then discovering other contractors that sell their services to mitigate against threats and get Federal contracts and also work with law enforcement. The last TI protest or gathering I attended was in 2017 called the Unity and Hope conference in Boston, Massachusetts. News of the Havana Syndrome just started to surface and mainstream publications started to write one off articles trying to debunk the Havana Syndrome and claim TI’s were delusional. My electronic harassment or “pain ray” harassment intensified, I knew there was a government element to it and discovered terrorist watch-listing and that the source the abuse like I had no rights pointed to counterterrorism. Since the writing of my last book Covert Harassment Not Just 5G about electronic harassment there has been talk in the news of a weaponized government or a “weaponized DoJ,” the ‘politicized’ FBI, some far-right people mention a deep state like we are living in another version of McCarthyism or a type of counterterrorism ‘COINTELPRO’ targeting a broad variety of US citizens including myself. Foreign terrorist after 9-11 justifying the Patriot Act has now turned into mostly domestic terror rhetoric. I knew it was not as simple as cancel culture or blaming the left-wing but the targeting is bipartisan with my targeting beginning during the Bush-Cheney era, one of my first postings during the Web 1.0 days was “Donald Rumsfeld’s UFO Connection” on my old Geocities web site called Top Secret Research. I knew my targeting and that of a family member tied in with our country’s track record of using torture tactics following 9-11-01 like at Gitmo and justifying assassinations using drones, the Disposition Matrix, that represents a waged war against perceived terrorist threats. I believe my own targeting and that of a targeted family member is connected to the post 9-11-01 domestic spying and counterterrorism bureaucracy.

What Did I Discover About UFOs to Make Me a Target?

I’m often asked this question when I mention to others I was targeted over UFOs.

What’s false: anti-gravity, zero point energy, faster-than-light travel, time travel.

What’s true: Propulsion types - electrohydrodynamics (ion drive), magnetoelectrodynamics/magnetohydrodynamics (geo-magnetics, superconductor), buoyant craft (using gas like a blimp, hybrid airships), beamed energy propulsion (plasma pinch), rocket/jet/fan (Caonda effect, counterrotating fan, reduction gear)

Types of UFOs: Circular wing (flying saucer); deltoid wing (triangles, boomerang, chevron); sphere or probes (metallic spheres), cigar-shape (dirigible), egg-shape (popular in the 1960s), cone or cup (popular in the 1960s).

Flight characteristic: hover, speed (if very fast G's it's remote controlled), VTOL, turn on edge, take off at 45 degree angle, fly in formations, sharp maneuvers.

UFO activity: centers of armament production; sensitive nuclear sites, power lines, dams, lakes or reservoirs, volcanoes, human wars.

UFO activity: landing for water or repair; shooting beams, releasing probes.

UFO Occupant Behavior: gathering earth specimen, abducting humans (examination, reproductive, hybrids), telepathic communication.

IFO's: The vast majority of UFOs are from a terrestrial origin: ball lighting, planets, satellites, experimental craft, secret craft, drones, birds, insects flying fast past video camera, balloons, Chinese lanterns, sun dogs, hoaxes, CGI deception.

Debunker truth: UFOs and UFO occupants reflect science fiction from the time. E.g, flying saucers were popular in the mid 20th Century.

Debunker truth: It's unlikely aliens are coming here from another star system because faster-than-light travel is not possible.

I got into the UFO subject matter from listening to Art Bell, the overnight radio talk show. The thought to a UFO cover-up like whistle blowers gave testimony at Steven Greer's Disclosure Project made me mad. Think of all the technology breakthroughs being covered up? Of course, back then I was younger and a bit more naive. I had a rebellious side as was apparent in my internet trolling, mostly on music mailing list, but also banned from UFO forums where UFO debunkers would get into flame wars with UFO believers or people who believed in the ETH, the extraterrestrial hypothesis. I myself, believed Steven Greer's Disclosure Project witnesses and the stories of crash retrieval like Roswell, Hanger 18 at Wright Patterson's AFB, and of course UFO cover-ups. I guess in a lot of what inspired me mirrored British UFO hacker Gary McKinnon who had Aspergers claiming Building 8 at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston is where they regularly air brushed out images of UFOs. I actually went to Johnson Space Center in the early 90s on a family reunion, one of my grandfather's relatives named Red who is now deceased had a job there. I wasn't into network hacking Gary McKinnon but what is called open source research or what is called Open Source Intelligence (OSINT) by the intelligence community. I would gather information like Gary McKinnon's testimony or that of Dr. Carol Rosin who spoke at Steven Greer's Disclosure Project promoting the alien false flag threat conspiracy and put it on a Geocities web site. From Dr. Carol Rosin's testimony where she mentioned Wernher von Braun, I had a Donald Rumsfeld connection because Rumsfeld met with von Braun. One of the first UFO forums I posted to was on astronaut Ed Mitchell's web site. He had his on Internet forum with a UFO category that was crawling with UFO debunkers. I was wet behind the ears and new to the subject matter, I actually believed Nazi UFO photos circulating on the internet were real but the dunkers on Ed Mitchell's forum shot them down as clever fakes. I felt foolish, I was so convinced and suspicious of the debunkers, that I kept researching. The UFO debunkers that lurked on UFO forums were actually handy in telling me what were known fakes and I gauged what was their reaction like playing hot potato to see if I was on to something. Around that time is when I first started to become electronic harassed and it coincided with posting to UFO forums. Overtime my research turned from conspiratorial UFO cover-up type testimony to actual UFO and close encounter sightings. Back then I knew that some of the conspiratorial stuff or over-the-top UFO personalities that Art Bell had on his show were probably fake, a product of the UFO enthusiast sub culture or UFO conventions, motivated by selling conspiracy books or tall tales to a gullible audience. I started instead focusing on UFO sightings reported to old UFO organizations like APRO, NICAP and sighting reported to the National UFO Reporting Center. I saw that some UFO sighting had UFO commonalities that could be put in categories like shape; effect; appearance; physical trace; flight characteristics etc. I would put the sightings in chronological order and hyperlink a if a sighting had a similar detail to other UFO cases. For example a glowing flying saucer would be listed on on both a disc-shaped page and a glowing UFO pages and hyperlinked together. There were many UFO beam reports like the UFOs had lasers or directed energy, and UFO injury incidents, some of the UFO injuries looked like it could have been one of out experimental craft like the Cash-Landum incident or the James Flynn incident. I also UFO witness harassment cases, it wasn't only the lore of the Men In Black. Then I started compiling info on UFO occupants or aliens reported in abductions that also had similar descriptions in some cases. There were anatomical differences to that of a human like a short child-like size, a large cranium, disproportionate long arms, wearing one-piece coveralls. I also compiled alien abduction info that at its height of popularity paralleled the TV show the X-Files. Much of the evidence came from UFO personalities like the late Dr. Roger Leir who removed alleged implants and had them examined in a lab where claims interesting findings and the late artist Bud Hopkins who depicted the gray aliens people reported after hypnosis sessions. Part of the problem with alien abductions is testimony by abductees mostly relied on hypnosis because of missing time or a memory lapse. People who witnessed a close encounter of the third kind were similar in in all boiled down to just being a person account or story with little in the way of evidence. When Geocities went under I switched to another free hosting web site called Angelfire. Then I tried Google Pages but it got taken down and it didn't use the easy HTML like the old Gecocities web site. My old UFO research web site still can be seen on a Geocities archive: www.oocities.org > topsecretresearch. In 2011 I started to become tired of UFOs, listing UFO commonalities on web pages and hyperlinking them with other categories in HTML code was a tedious process and very time consuming. I also knew that there was flaw in listing commonalities, if a person made up a UFO sighting it may have a lot of the same commonalities. It was also hard to trust all the information that was gathered from an internet or UFO literature source. I was only still doing it out of spite because of the electronic harassment. The early electronic harassment was like a high pitched tone that would come in and out of the left ear followed by a sinus migraine or my throat being targeted. A radiation dermatitis rash started to appear on my leg. What I didn't know at the time was the Pentagon was also researching UFOs, or what they term UAP, and they were most likely the source of my electronic harassment. That's why I got directed energy attacks after posting to a UFO forum, I knew nothing about domestic snooping, Total Information Awareness; Code Name Basketball, or the surveillance state as exposed by Edward Snowden and Julian Assange. Then around 2013 after the "pain ray" directed energy attacks occurred I sent an iPad to my Dad who did not talk to since the early 1990s when my parents divorced. I felt bad that when my grandfather died in an old folks home I could have been around more during the last years of his life so that made me re-connect with my Dad. He was into man-made flying saucers, partly inspired as a kid by the classic science fiction movie Forbidden Planet and reading Frank Scully's book Behind The Flying Saucers. When my Dad became an adult he wanted to build a flying saucer but was always broke relying on scrap metal and junk that he would salvage and was bad at keeping a job so it never materialized. He sent me E-mail of bunch of his drawings or sketches explaining his propulsion concepts and I decided to re-draw them using software and release a self-published book. I noticed the directed energy attacks were more intense during this time. My Dad thought he made an important discovery playing around with ion lifters. He said it was not the weak force associated with ion wind but it could also be a strong force. I had no scientific or engineering background so I didn't know if his theories and small scale electrical experiments were really that significant. He also believed Nikola Tesla who experimented with electricity could have made a similar discovery, Tesla designed once such craft aerial tel-automaton, however it was hard for me to determine what was real of fake regarding Nikola Tesla due to the amount of conspiracy material associated with his name. My Dad too tended to believe some things he saw on an Italian TV network called Focus TV that would show pseudoscientific or conspiratorial content for entertainment purposes much like cable network shows in America like Ancient Aliens. My Dad also had faith-based beliefs that would not help his credibility in the scientific community like believing in angels and he had an angel companion, a cherub, that communicated with him. During E-mail communication he would become moody and go off on a religious tangent. Redrawing my Dad sketches however made me more familiar with propulsion concepts. My Dad claimed anti-gravity and faster-than-light travel does not exist and a UFO would have to be a drone or piloted by remote control if over a certain speed because our bodies could not handle the g-force. He said the large black triangles or deltoid craft that emit a transformer type hum are man made, it's high frequency, high current or voltage (I forget which), the big black triangles some call the TR-3B may use a superconductor with superinsulators partially repelling by earth's magnetic field or "geo-magnetics" studied by Wilbert Smith or Project magnet and Frank Skully's book Behind The Flying Saucers may have inadvertently revealed some truth. He also believed some UFOs could be buoyant or lighter-than-air craft and could be hybrid airships using a combination of propulsion. The perception that buoyancy means a balloon or a blimp that travels slowly and gets blown around by the wind is wrong. He claimed he knew how to improve the Air Forces failed 1960s Avro Vehicle using the Condo effect by repositioning the propellor. The man-made flying saucers he was trying to build when I was young he called ground-effect vehicles. I learned that flying saucers were really called circular wing craft and the boomerang or large triangle UFOs were deltoid, the cigar shaped UFOs were similar to a dirigible. Many of my Dad's theories are in the self-published books I released like the first book entitled Gene Watson - Flying Saucers (2014). My Dad said his drawings he sent me were only generalized and many of the concepts were not new. He drew craft that used nuclear fusion but containing a nuclear fusion reaction but containing a nuclear fusion reaction is still being researched. My Dad didn't think UFO or flying saucer propulsion was that important now but rocket propulsion for space travel, it was crucial for humans to colonize space, my Dad was getting concerned that the human race was headed toward certain extinction if we were not faster in becoming space faring and that ice contained in moons, space rock, and the Oort Cloud could be used as an energy source because of the abundance of deuterium. He was particularly fond of the cyclotron drive that shot a beam at ice balls like a pulsed detonation drive. My Dad however did not believe in UFO encounters with aliens calling it science fiction but became open that there may be an outpost close to our solar system, instead of aliens traveling here from another star system and space would be their permanent home in a type of migration. Contact with humans would be limited due to our terrestrial war-like tendencies and primitive ways. My UFO research compiling commonalities didn't seem to garnish much attention by the public, neither did my self-published books. When trying to promote my Dad's concepts thinking an Elon Musk or Richard Branson may be interested I received no response, maybe because they are hard to reach due to their popularity or it was unsolicited mail. There were also rejection letters, like from NASA, who usually work with academic institutions or private space companies. In retrospect it was a very amateur thing to do. Also rejection letters from defense contractors and auto-makers. It wasn't like I was trying to undermine national security, I thought maybe if he was right about his ion thrust discovery it deserved some looking into. My Dad too while living in Italy tried showing his buzzing swinging back and forth ion lifters to engineers and tried approaching people but they would only watch and say nothing or turn him away. This was also the treatment he got when he lived in the United States where he believes some of his ideas were ripped off or the door was slammed in his face. For fun I put up a web site with thumbnails of alien faces reported in close encounters and abductions. When the web site visit clicks on the thumbnail it goes to a web pages where I cut and paste details about the particular case taken from various UFO web sites. I put it on Google Pages and it was taken down. I put it on a free web hosting site and it was also taken down. I saved my Alien Face Thumbnail project as a compressed zip file and it became corrupted where I couldn't open it. So I released a self-published book on UFO Occupants called Space Visitors: A Visual Guide To ETs (2019) where I redrew on my laptop profiles of UFO occupants and aliens reported in alien abductions. It didn't sell that many copies, maybe the drawing were too crude but I did make an observation that was pointed out by UFO debunkers, many of the aliens or UFO occupants people have reported parallel what's depicted in science fiction. This would also be the case with UFOs. In the past flying saucers were really popular and then it turned into black triangles and now drones. Before there was flying saucer hysteria when the modern era of UFOs started with the 1947 Kenneth Arnold pilot sighting there was the airship wave of the late 1800s, and the ghost flyers across Europe during the 1930s and Swedish ghost rockets following the war. There were also science fiction illustrations similar to a flying saucer or UFOs in 1930s pulp magazines like Wonder Stories and Amazing Stories. My Dad lived with an Italian woman named Sylvana who drew a sighting she had shortly after World War II that she claims may have pre-dated Roswell, she was orphaned and driving in a car with nuns on a highway toward Milan, Italy and over a field there was a large flying saucer with blinding lights around the perimeter and underneath descended and occupant with a type of space suit and helmet with visor, she said it was like the occupant defended by a rope and it brought traffic to standstill. The next day she overheard the nuns reading the newspaper where the sighting was explained away as a balloon and hearing the nuns say that the explanation was false, like a cover story, what they saw was not a balloon. Researching online I saw a photo of a pilot at Malpensa airport dated from around that time wearing a high pressure suit with a helmet and visor that resembled Sylvana's drawing. She and the nuns may have observed some type of experimental craft and not something from out of this world. I believe my targeting was because of the Pentagon's Advanced Aerospace Threat Identification Program (AATIP). My Dad believes in the Secret Weapons Hypothesis or the Secret Advanced Technology Hypothesis. Big corporations and defense contractors have a black book of secret technology breakthroughs and scientific discoveries that is not shared with the public. Kind of like Captain Nemo and the Nautilus in Jules Verne's novel Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea (1870). According to the Secret Weapons Hypothesis the UFO phenomenon is muddled up with pseudo-science and lore about aliens to keep others from knowing about the advancements. When I hear on the news about all the new government interest on UFOs or UAP it just comes across as psyops playing up more threats where no real answer will be given. I doubt the Pentagon or Washington will reveal any black budget programs or unacknowledged special access programs revealing some secret craft being worked on compartmented away somewhere at tax payer expensive and fess up to what they've been working on for the past 50 years.